

Statistics Learning Centre

Our policies in plain English

1 Privacy

- 1.1 We will keep your information private.
- 1.2 We may use your answers to questions to help provide better learning tools. This will be anonymous.
- 1.3 We may tell your teacher how much work you are doing. This will only happen if you have signed up through the school.
- 1.4 We will gather usage data, which may be used for research and development. No individuals will be identified.

2 Code of Conduct

All people who use Statistics Learning Centre courses are expected to:

- 2.1 Be polite and respectful to others on Forums.
- 2.2 Treat the site with respect, in particular you agree to do what you can to maintain the rights of copyright owners and site security.
- 2.3 Keep your account (username and password) for your own exclusive use.
- 2.4 Follow the terms of our copyright notice: <http://www.StatsLC.com/copyright/>

3 Right of Removal

We at Statistics Learning Centre reserve the right to remove people whom we consider are not meeting the code of conduct. Usually you will receive a warning if we consider you are not meeting the code of conduct, but this is not required in cases we consider serious. People removed in such instances will have no right for a fee refund.

4 Disclaimer

- 4.1 Enrolling in a Statistics Learning Centre course increases your opportunities to learn. It does not provide any guarantee of improved or passing grades.
- 4.2 We aim to ensure that all materials are correct. However we will not be held responsible for errors or misunderstandings by learners or teachers.

5 Copyright

- 5.1 All materials provided directly on the Statistics Learning Centre are the property of Creative Heuristics Limited.
- 5.2 Copying and distribution of Statistics Learning Centre materials are subject to the terms of our copyright notice: <http://www.StatsLC.com/copyright/>

6 Limited Liability

We are not responsible for any additional costs, expenses or losses you might incur through the use of our site. The maximum liability on the Statistics Learning Centre and its employees to you is a refund of the enrolment fee paid (if any).
